

The Calendar of Religious Festivals and Supplement

2022

The Catholic Institute of Education's Religious Education Department makes the Calendar of Religious Festivals and the Supplement to the Calendar of Religious Festivals available to schools as a resource for planning assembly programs and Religious Education in relation to Life Orientation, other learning areas, the life of faith communities, and issues that face South Africa and the world. We hope you can use the Calendar and its Supplement to encourage ecumenical and interfaith sensitivity, a strong concern for human rights – for children, adults, the disabled, and the displaced – and a passionate care for the environment.

The Calendar contains a selection of the most important celebrations in Christianity and several world religions. Note, however, that:

- the Orthodox plan their liturgical year slightly differently to the Catholic and Protestant Churches.
- Jewish, Muslim, and Bahá'í days begin at sundown on the evening before the given date.

No entries for African Traditional Religious practices are included in the Calendar. First, rituals are practiced within the family or local community as needed rather than at an appointed time. Second, while major festivals are linked to the agricultural cycle of planting and harvesting, the dates of these are uncertain until such time as they are announced by a monarch or chief. So, you will need to find out when events of local or regional significance are scheduled if you wish to refer to them.

The Supplement largely lists secular days of observance, declared by the South African State, the African Union, or the United Nations Organization, that relate to the environmental, health, human rights, social justice, and peace-keeping challenges that face us all. More information on UN observances is available at: <http://www.un.org/en/sections/observances/united-nations-observances/>.

Feedback on the calendar is welcome. Comments can be sent to:
